

Time Out

Chicago

Bite into Chicago's best CUBAN sandwich

Step up your style at free FASHION FOCUS
runway shows

Lockwood The Palmer House Hilton's $150 million makeover included the addition of this restaurant, a contemporary dining room entrusted to chef Phillip Foss. This fall, Foss works with a wide array of hearty, autumnal meats, such as prosciutto-wrapped boar tenderloin and a tartlet of lamb sweetbreads. He also goes crazy with foie gras, pairing it with figs in one dish, apples in another and quail in a third. To check out the hotel's new look without dropping the dough for dinner, stop in for a N cocktail in the lobby bar and nosh on small bites like the charcuterie plate or Kobe sliders. 17 E Monroe St between State St and Wabash Ave (312-917-3404). El: Blue, Red to Monroe. Breakfast, lunch, dinner. Average main course: $36.